“ I've found in life, that it's extremely rare to find all the positive qualities Ben Lesko displayed in only one person. Ben was kind and gentle, fun loving and caring. He was a principled man with a strong spiritual core. He was very loyal to his friends and if needed, would fiercely defend them whether they were present or not. Ben would always care for others before ever giving a thought to his own needs. Musically, he was truly gifted. He played many instruments with the piano being the main one. With all his wonderful qualities, I beleive, "Humility" was his greatest. He was a very "humble man." He'd played with some of the most famous rock bands in the world and very few people ever knew. Why?...because he never talked about it. You will be greatly missed my friend. I love and respect you and always will. Say "Hi" to Danny Naten for me. I know how much you've missed him.

“ Ben was always a ray of sunshine. I could always count on him to put a smile on my face. Ben would give the shirt off his back to anyone who needed it, he was a man who would help his fellow humans. He was strong with his love for music and if you ever had a chance to experience his record collection it was epic! He was a simple man who never had strong ambitions to acquire physical stuff... But he had a very strong ambition to have quality relationships. He lived by a code a code of honor, defend humanity is one of the items from the code I believe Ben lived the strongest. I loved Ben and he will always be in my heart and I wish him safe travels to his new adventure. As I know he walked into the light with a smile on his face and playing the guitar.

Godspeed my friend.
