Marnell Fox was born on March 13, 1942 in New Hampton, Iowa. She graduated from New Hampton High School in 1960 and The University of Iowa with a degree in Business Administration in 1964. She married John J. Fox on Thanksgiving Day, 1964. They remained in New Hampton and eventually began to raise their three children there. In 1980, the family relocated permanently to Carroll, Iowa.

Since all three kids were now in school, Marnell returned to work, selling insurance and annuities for several years. She then took on the task of Coordinator for the Wallace Foundation, a non-profit organization that was an extension of Iowa State University. Her goal in this capacity was to raise funds to purchase a working farm for the university's agricultural research division, which she ultimately was successful in doing.

Based on this success, she became the Fund Development Director for the Danish Immigrant Museum (now the Museum of Danish America) in Elk Horn, Iowa. She felt a special connection to this project due to her own Danish ancestry. She retired early in 2004 to spend more time with her husband and grandsons who lived in Carroll.

After her husband passed away, she moved to Odessa, Texas in 2006, to spend time with her daughter and two granddaughters who lived there. Here she completed the Master Gardener course and became a volunteer historian and archivist with the Girl Scouts of the Desert Southwest. This led to a full-time position with the organization as its Fund Development Manager. She handled many of its annual functions, such as "Women of Distinction" and its "Annual Cookout" at Camp Mitre Peak. She remained in this position until her death.

Throughout her life, Marnell enjoyed traveling, especially to places of historic significance, and spending time with her family. She loved music and the arts and was an accomplished pianist and designer herself. Gardening was always one of her passions, as was spending time with and helping to raise her grandchildren.

Marnell died March 11, 2017 at Medical Center Hospital in Odessa, Texas

following a brief illness.

Marnell was preceded in death by her father, Louis Fliger, Jr., and her mother, Erna Fliger; her husband, John J. Fox; her brothers, Louis Fliger III and James Fliger, her sister, Denise Rowan, and an infant daughter, Mary Fox.

Marnell is survived by her daughter, Angela Fox-Thompson of Odessa, Texas, her sons and their wives, Joel and Chicone Fox of Carroll, Iowa and Darin and Sherril Fox of Stuttgart, Germany and seven grandchildren, her sister Mary Lou Erickson of Minneapolis, Minnesota, her sister Alice Jean Bartz of New Hampton, Iowa, her brother, Lynn Fliger of Minneapolis, Minnesota, her brother Robert Fliger of New Orleans, Louisiana, her sister-in-law, Ramona Gates of New Hampton, Iowa, her aunt and uncle, Jeananne and Marland Johnson of Laurel, Montana, several cousins, and numerous nieces and nephews.

“ Our sympathy to Marnell's family and friends. She was Dan's first cousin. We grew up in New Hampton IA.and were part of the Fliger clan. Marnell was very bright and full of humor. I always enjoyed being around Marnell. Seems like she always had something pertinent to say. Her life accomplishments are much to be admired. She will be missed. God bless all as we grieve her loss. With much love, Dan & Pat Fliger
