The son of Sylvester and Bernadette (Maxwell) Fangman, Robert Maxwell Fangman was born on September 26, 1926, in Omaha, Nebraska. He spent his younger years in the Boone Community, and graduated from Sacred Heart School. Prior to realizing the priest vocation, Bob served two years during World War II as a Navy Medic during which time he sustained his hearing loss.

Upon his honorable discharge, he furthered his education at Boone Junior College, Creighton University, and St. Mary of the Lake Seminary in Mundelein, Illinois. Fr. Robert Fangman was ordained on May 5, 1954 at Cathedral of the Epiphany in Sioux City, Iowa.

Following his ordination he served as Assistant Pastor at St. Lawrence Parish in Carroll and Corpus Christi Parish in Ft. Dodge in addition to being on the faculty and administration at St. Edmond's High School. While in Ft. Dodge, Fr. Bob also served as Chaplain for the Women's Reformatory in Rockwell City. His additional Pastoral assignments included: St. Joseph Parish, Barnum, St. Mary Parish, Larchwood, St. Mary Parish, Lake City, Sacred Heart Parish, Manilla, and Annunciation Parish, Coon Rapids. Fr. Bob Fangman also served as Superintendent at Gehlen Catholic High School in Le Mars from 1964-1966.

Fr. Bob was an avid and loyal supporter of Iowa Hawkeye Athletics and rarely missed a game.

Survivors include his sister, Elizabeth (Fangman) Maulik and her husband Roger of St. Paul, MN as well many nieces, nephews, and other extended family.

Fr. Robert Fangman was preceded in death by his parents, Sylvester and Bernadette Fangman; his brothers: Dr. Charles Fangman, Fr. James Fangman, and Thomas Fangman, PhD; and his sister, Miriam (Fangman) Moderhock.

We as kids would always know when we saw Father Fangman's Springer spaniel that Father wasn't far behind. He loved walking his dog in Manilla. He will be missed, RIP
